I samarbejder med lokale frisørsaloner, udkommer Hands In Your Pants's nye designpakke. Elementerne henvender sig til urbane unge mænd, der elsker at have fart på og sætter en ære i altid at se nyklippede og skarpe ud. Vi fandt nemlig ud af, at disse unge fyre i gennemsnit går til frisøren hver tredje uge og tænkte, at det var en oplagt mulighed for et testikel-tjek.

Vi har lavet en lille guide på størrelse med et kreditkort, der passer lige i pungen og er nem at tage med sig. En frisørkappe med omvendt skrift kan læses i spejlet, og guider dig gennem et tjek, mens du bliver klippet. Under kappen, kan undersøgelsen foregå ubemærket.

Vores sidste element er et lille indlæg, som skal fungere som en reminder – den placeres i indersiden af din yndlings hovedbeklædning og når håret igen er blevet lidt for langt og du griber ud efter kasketten, vil du blive mindet om, at det er tid til både studsning og den månedlige "nut-inspection".

Testicular cancer is the most common cancer for young men. But if detected early, you can prevent serious danger.

Your fade probably needs refreshing at least once a month, yeah? That's as often as you should inspect your nuts.

Pocket sized nut-inspection-guide

If something feel lumpy or sore, make an appointment with your doctor. It could be nothing but it's important you get it checked.

Sit comfortably, let your barber do his magic and meanwhile get a good grip of your balls. There's no shortcut. At least you can do it completely unnoticed, just follow these three steps:

Step 1

Grab your balls. Check one testicle at a time.

Step 2

Gently roll & feel them between your fingers. They should feel soft and move freely inside the sack.

Step 3

Notice the size, shape and remember to check 'em once a month! That's all.
