HYPERFOCUS

Hyperfocus is a digital platform where the ADHD community can share their hobbies and interests with a broader audience, creating an endless library of niche interests. This serves the purpose of observing and documenting the peculiarities of the world around us that may otherwise go unnoticed.

The image cutouts on the website are playfully designed with color overlays, encouraging user interactions. When hovered over, the image is revealed, and users can click on the element to access more information. Additionally, the website features a filtering system, enhancing the browsing experience by allowing users to focus on specific content.
