

I have no color, yet I color all.
I'm soft as a feather, but can shatter a wall.
I give life to all, though I drown without care.
I'm quiet as a whisper, yet thunder fills the air.
Both savior and destroyer, I shape the land.
Forever needed, but feared where I stand.

